Our Story

Do Me A Flavour is a family business specialising in value added ingredients. Based in Roscommon, we are a sister company to Oliver Carty & Family, one of Ireland's most innovative meat processors for over 70 years.

At Do Me A Flavour, we love imagining new flavours and recipes. From the rich bounty grown in Ireland to exotic spices sourced from all over the world, we stop at nothing to seek out the most intriguing ingredients and flavours.

Our NPD team and development chefs are experts in food product development. They work hard to ensure that our products work across a host of different proteins and vegetables, and our range of ingredients is always growing and always on trend. Let us translate our flavours into delicious dishes, custom crafted for you.

Our Range

The secret of a sensational dish lies in truly superb ingredients. We insist on partnering with only the finest producers, in every region, all across the globe. That way we can guarantee the freshest, most aromatic spices and herbs, the finest oils and vinegars for our marinades and rubs, and the creamiest Irish butter for our flavoured butters and stuffings.

From the heady aroma of wild Irish garlic to the gloriously earthy notes of Italian black truffles, every ingredient is a true feast for the senses.
